

John Kimber

8 April 1855, John Kimber married Sarah Ann James at St. John's Church, Carisbrooke

Sarah Ann Kimber died May 1877 and was buried in Newport Cemetery

26 December 1877 John Kimber married Fanny Prince at St. Mary's Church, Carisbrooke

1881 census, Westminster Lane, Carisbrooke

John Kimber	Head	Married	45	Bricklayer	Newport, Hampshire
Fanny Kimber	Wife	Married	34		Northwood, Hampshire

Isle of Wight Observer – 6 May 1882

NEWPORT.

SUDDEN DEATH. – On Saturday morning an inquest was held at Newport, before the Deputy-Coroner of the Island (Mr E.F. Blake), on the body of John Kimber, whose death took place with lamentable suddenness in St James's-square, on the previous Thursday. – William Kimber, living in Union-street, said his brother was a bricklayer, 47 years old, and lived with him. On Thursday afternoon they were in St James's-square, close to the Fountain inn. Deceased was standing three or four yards from witness, when he staggered towards him. Witness caught him, unfastened his shirt collar, and, with assistance, took him to Dr Castle's, but he died in about ten minutes after. Dr Castle was at home, as also was his son (Dr Hutton Castle). Deceased never spoke after he fainted. His health had been bad for some time. He had suffered from rheumatism and shortness of breath. Had not been able to do any work for four years. – Dr Henry Castle stated on Thursday the deceased was brought to his house. He was dying, gave a few gasps, and expired. At the coroner's request he made a post-mortem examination, and found that death was caused by apoplexy of the right lung, an uncommon form of disease, but not wholly unknown. – The jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

Transcriptions and research by Tony Barton for the Friends of Newport and Carisbrooke Cemeteries, © 2018

<https://www.foncc.org.uk>